SUDDEN DEATH.

Once again the hand of death has removed mother, who was an exemplary and useful member of society. The summons came suddenly in the morning of womanhood on last Monday afternoon to Mrs. Jemima Roof, wife of Mr. Walter Roof, of Charleston, who was stricken down by apoplexy at the residence of her father, Mr. J. B. Clark, in this town. She only survived about three hours, and died without an utterance after the attack, which came upon her in health, with no premonition of its approach. She was a faithful and pious member of the Baptist Oliurch at this place, and her re-mains were placed to rest in the Baptist Church yard, after beautiful and solemn inneral services by Revs. J. 8. Murray and L. M. Ayer. The deceased leaves a little daughter not yet a year old, with a husband and many relatives who, together with a large circle of friends, grieve for her untime-

A QUESTION.

The Union-Herald announces that the evidence of frauds, so bold and flagrant as to secure their own defeat, continue to accumulate from Anderson and other Democratic counties in the State. We also have information that the rejection of the yote of this County by the State Canvassers was talked of. We wish to know where these frauds were enacted, and in what they consisted? Senator Cochran is the only Republican from this County in Columbia, as far as we have been able to learn, and we therefore call on him to make known who it is that has attacked the fairness of this County? If he is not one of the persons making complaint, it is his duty to clear his skirts of the blame by exposing the sneaking, false rascals who charge our people with improper conduct in the election. It will not do for him to pretend ignorance on this subject. He cannot run with the hare and yelp with the hounds in this matter. We want to know the names of the execrable scamps who have thus slandered our people, and Mr. Cochran must make their names public or be classed with them as one of the enemies of Anderson County. This is a practical issue, and our people are unwilling to have it dodged. The sneaks who go to Columbia and try to overthrow the will of our people, deserve the severest condemnation, and our people will hold any man tainted with suspicion, who does not clear himself by positive proof, as one of the members of the foul conspiracy against their sovereign will.

DAROR CONTRACT.

Our people are discussing with much in-terest the subject of giving employment to terest the subject of giving employment to ever he wishes, but he never he in the late election, and we take this occasion to urge the various clubs and the individuals of our County to await the action of the County Executive Committee, which is to meet on to-morrow, Friday, morning. We have no hesitation in saying that if the Republicans had carried the State every man in South Carolina ought to have refused to countenance or eraploy any Republican, not because we have any hard feeling towards any colored man who voted ignorantly for the public thieves, but because it would have been the only means left us to defeat the corrupt crew of Radical leaders. We do not hesitate to advance and advocate the doctrine that a citizen has a right to refuse employment to any man that belongs to an opposite political party. The only question is, does the exigency demand such a course? Extreme measures should never be used except to counteract extreme evils, and if those evils have been corrected without such measures they should not be resorted to. his general proposition is true in politics, and our people should calmly consider the we are the victors, and it becomes us to gercise as much magnanimity to the vanquished as possible. It is noble to forget and forgive wrongs-it is particularly sublime to do so in the moment of triumph and power. Every effort should now be directed to rebuilding the shattered material prosperity of South Carolina, and to accomplish this there should be a complete nciliation between capital and labor. What we most need, nay what we must haye, is peace and quiet throughout the State, and the Democratic party is pledged to bring it about. Let this subject of contracts be decided as it may be, we urge that the colored men who voted with us shall have ample recognition for their noble conduct in helping to rescue the State from tyrants and rogues. They should always have the preference of land or position. Their wages should be the highest that are paid, and they should be assisted in every way that is reasonable and proper. They must not be forgotten in our victory, for it is partly theirs. Again, we ask the people of Andesign (toronts and bare proven so nobly in party discipline and self-sacrificing patriotparty descipline and self-sacrificing partoc-ian is addit the action of the Executive Committee and we have no doubt such ac-ticated the latest as to secure harmony and the County, and in throughout the County, and in consistent manner advance the prosperity of our County and, again to the glorious re-

The community of Anderson are under obligations to Mr. Cashine, the telegraph operator at this place, for the faithful and accommodating manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office for the past two weeks, frequently remaining up as late as twelve, and even two o'clock, to furnish the latest political news, by enabling persons to get telegrams through. The engine on the Anderson branch of the of the G. & C. R. R. now flies a Hampton flag as it makes its accustomed trips over the road, and is adorned by a large and beautiful wreath on each side, one bearing the inscription "Hampton," and the other "Tilden," in honor of the two greatest reformers of our generation, who have purged and re-generated our State and nation from a government of thicves.

Senator Cochran professed to support Aiken, Conner and Leaphart upon the Democratic ticket, and Chamberlain and others upon the Republican ticket. The result is that Conner and Leaphert ran over fifty and Aiken over one hundred votes behind Hampton. If Mr. Cochran supported these men he has shown clearly that his influence is a minus one. There is no doubt he can that the upshot would make the Democontrol the colored vote of the County whencrat even if he does promise to support him. Our people cannot be fooled by any more professions from him like those he made two years ago about Greene aud McGowan His trick has been discovered, and it is use less for him to try to repeat it in this County. Our people understand his little ruse, and he cannot again deceive them by it. Capt. Nathan McAlister, who announce a few weeks ago his intention to support Hampton for Governor, has shown recently that his professions were deceitful, and that if he voted for Hampton his influence was exerted to secure his defeat. Mr. McAlister was a manager of the election at Long's Shop, and failed to sign the election returns from that precinct. The blanks were sent to him for his signature on Thursday night, and he refused to sign the returns. He need not give himself any further trouble about it, however, as the two other managers signed, and it is thereby validated. Capt. McAlister ought to be prosecuted for neglect of official duty, as the law requires the managem to sign the returns. As he did not object to the votes when counted, he could not refuse to sign the returns.

What Hayes Says.

· CINCINNATI, Nov. 8. The following interview with Governor Hayes was published this afternoon. In reply to questions the Governor said: "I think we are defeated, spite of recent good news. I am of opinion that the Democrats have carried the country and elected Tilden, as it now seems necessary for the Republicans to carry all the States now set down as doubtful to secure even a majority of one. I don't think encouraging despatches ought to be given to the public now, because they might mislead enthusiastic friends to bet on the election and lose their money. I do heartily deprecate such despatches."

After pleasantly rallying his friends and urging them not to be despondent, he said: "I do not think it right to joke over this matter. I don't care for myover this matter. I don't care for myself. The party, yes, as the country, too, Governor Tilden's Movements.

Governor Tilden spent the forenoon of yesterday at his house on Gramercy square. He received few visitors, because he was tired, and when he got through with lunch he took a turn around to the Democratic headquarters at the Everett House. It was there the Herald reporter met the Governor in the midst of an eager gathering of Democratic notabilities. "They have given me," said the Governor, "a pretty large popular majority, something over a quarter of a million."

Governor Tilden was dressed in a suit of dark clothes and wore a silk hat. He never seemed to the writer in finer health and spirits. Much conversation was go-and spirits. Much conversation was going on around the room.

"I'll tell you what I think," said Major J. Haggerty to Judge Morris, of Brooklyn: "There is one man in the United States Senate belonging to the Republican party who will not consent to this outrage of counting in Louisiana, and that man is Senator Conkling. He stands," exclaimed the Major, eloquent with the subject, "on the mountain tops, above the mists and fogs of party, and he views the situation from a patriot's standpoint."

point."
Judge Morris said, "We will submit to a great deal but if the Republicaus mean to count us out by fraud I don't think we can stand it." Judge Morris was counsel for Moulton and Tilton in the Beecher trial

THE GOVERNOR'S VIEW.

"Well," said Governor Tilden, speaking to the Herald man, "the fiery zealots of the Republican party may attempt to count me out, but I don't think the better class of Republicans will permit it. It would be a bad precedent to set."

Colonel Pelton the Governor's nephew, was busy receiving visitors. Senator

Colonel Pelton the Governor's nephew, was busy receiving visitors. Senator Randolph, of Ilew Jersey, came in and said, "South Carolina has gone Democratic, but (this with a bitter frown) they will count us out if they can." Mr. Algernon Sullivan strode in also, and asked for the news from Colonel Pelton. The Colonel had nothing more to give than what the Telegram brought up, but Mr. Sullivan said he thought the Returning Board in New Orleans was bent on Board in New Orleans was bent on

Governor Tilden kept his seat in front

Governor Tilden kept his seat in front of the Everett House, outside of which a great crowd of people had collected staring wildly into the hotel.

"It is strange," said the Governor, "how I get misrepresented. I come across interviews supposed to take place with me that really never occurred. There, for instance, is one this morning in which I am made to say that I believe that that paper (mentioning a certain journal) is the greatest paper in America, and that my election is attributable to it. That interview never took place." view never took place."
Governor Tilden said, resuming the conversation, in earnest accents, "I do not think, considering that I have received such a considerable popular majority vote, that the Republican party will attempt to perpetrate fraud."

Smith Weed, of Clinton, said: "It is zery close but we have carried the Union."

Smith Weed, of Clinton, asid: "It is very close, but we have carried the Union honestly, and that is the whole thing in a nutshell—we have carried it henestly."

Mr. August Belmont, Mr. Edward Cooper, son of Mr. Peter Cooper, and General George B. McClellan dropped in and departed after a few minutes' stay.

GOV. TILDEN AGAIN.

"I am not apprehensive of the result."

"I am not apprehensive of the result," continued Governor Tilden in his talk with the Herald reporter. "The popular majority must have its effect in the way majority must have its effect in the way of counteracting any attempt at upsetting the honest results of the election. Be satisfied with the reflection that the people are too patriotic, too intelligent, too self-poised to allow anything perilous to be done—anything that may disturb or destroy our peculiar form of government. Den't be alarmed."

Later on the Mercial reporter salids as

Don't be alarmed."

Later on the Heraid reporter called at the Governor's residence in Gramercy Park. There was no crowd in front of the dwelling as on the night of the election and the one subsequent thereto. The Governor sat in the back parlor, and Clarkson N. Potter, Abram S. Hewett and other prominent and active men in the Democratic ranks called upon him. cratic party victorious.

The night previous the Governor was up till midnight. Then went to bed, and "I slept like a top," said he. His appearance indicated that, unlike the rest of the politicians who had called to see him, his mind was easy. "To-night," said he, "I shall retire at twelve, and no returns shall come between me and sleep," and as he spoke these words he smiled.—-Kerald of Nov. 11.

The evening edition of the Cincinnati Enquirer contains the following editorial article on the President's order:

article on the President's order:

It is the crowning act of the Presidential usurpation. It is a confession that even with the lawless aid of the army, the Republican party has been unable to carry the election, and now the entire military forces of the United States, headed by their General, are directed by the President to march upon the Southern States they have lost, to take possession of the ballot boxes and count the vote. This high-handed outrage is an admission that the States of Louisiana and Florida are lost to the Republican party, and an advertisement is issued that the bayonet shall not only cast but count the vote. This action is not only highly inflammatory but revolutionary. The American people love fair play. If these States are counted out forcibly by Re-American people love fair play. South Carolina.—In spite of troops and arrests, South Carolina seems to have chosen Hampton. We congratulate the people of the State, and particularly the colored voters. They have shown good sense, and they will now have peace and order, low taxes and good will. So far as we hear at the hour of going to press, the election has been entirely peaceful, and on this important result we also congratulate the people of the State of both colors. General Hampton has solemnly promised, on every stump in the State, that, if elected Governor, he would make the colored people secure in all their rights. He cannot afford to do less, and he has power and influence enough to enable power and influence enough to enable him to keep his promise. We hope that a new era of prosperity begins in South Carolina with this election.—New York
